Shipping Notes.

The steamer Kaula sailed for Kaula ports at 5 p. m. yesterday.
The Mauna Loa will get away on her regular run tomorrow at noon.
The schooner Solano is at the Kekuanaoa wharf to discharge coal.

The British ship Dechmont sailed late yesterday afternoon for Puget Sound in ballast.

If the Coronado completes her cargo of sugar she will sail for the Coast probably tomorrow.

The steamer Helene will probably get away for Maui and Hawaii ports this afternoon at 5 o'clock.

The S. S. Siberia which left this port last Friday morning arrived at San Francisco yesterday morning.

The tug Charles Counselmann which came down from Hilo to take the place of the Fearless while she was being given an overhauling, went back to Hilo on Wednesday.

The S. S. Nebraskan sailed for Kahului yesterday afternoon. Though leaving a day late she will be back in time to sail for San Francisco according to her schedule time, August 1.

The Robert Lewers sailed for Laysan Island yesterday morning for a load of guano. She carried two passengers, Gullford Whitney and Sherwood Lowrey, who are making the round trip on the schooner for pleasure.

PRESENT TO CHIEF ENGINEER ALLEN

Before the Doric left San Francisco, Chief Engineer William Allen was presented with a diamond studded locket and a pair of diamond studded cuff-buttons by some of the officers of the steamship, in token of his recent celebration of the ending of his twenty-fifth year in the Pacific steamship service. The S. F. Call of July 21 gives the following account of the presentation.

The deck and engineer officers of the steamship Doric yesterday presented Chief Engineer William Allen with a diamond-studded locket and a pair of diamond-studded cuff-buttons in token of "Father" Allen's recent celebration of his twenty-fifth year of service between here and the Orient. Captain Smith made the presentation. "Father" Allen, as he is known at every port the Doric touches, entered the White Star service twenty-five years ago as chief engineer of the old Oceanic. When that vessel came too old for the service Allen took her home and while in England superintended the placing of new engines in the Doric. Although getting along toward winter as years tell the story, Allen is physically in the prime of life and his young heart and vigorous frame contradict most emphatically the suggestion of the snowy beard and white locks. In his profession he stands at the top. He has the love and respect of his shipmates and here and in the Orient has a wide circle of friends ashore.

Customs Promotions.

There will be some changes in the personnel of the Custom House employees tomorrow.

Roger J. Taylor has been promoted from clerk to day inspector, in place of Robert S. Pearson who has resigned to go to Washington, D. C., where he will take a position with the Interstate Commerce Commission. Elmer E. Cheatham will be raised from the position of night inspector to that of clerk in place of Roger J. Taylor. This will leave a vacancy in the service which will be filled by means of the Civil Service Examinations. As E. S. Dunbar stands at the head of the list at present he will no doubt receive the position vacated by Cheatham.
